BOMBAY RACES, 1913.

There are no better Field Glasses in the world than those known as the GOERZ TRIEDER and the EMILE BUSCH BINOCULARS.

They are made for the Marine Service, for the Field and for the Theatre. Wonderful qualities, and the most extensive field of view, make them transcendentally perfect for use on the Race Course. They are as different to the ordinary field glass as a diamond is to a bit of glass.

There are many imitations of these excellent Prism binoculars offered at about a third of the price and under strikingly fancy names intended to conceal their origin, but which only prove their illegitimacy and orphanism. Such imitation may be accepted, therefore, as mere contrivances manufactured solely for the purpose of use as successful "Catch-pennies."

On his return, at 2 a.m., he did not notice anything wrong and it was not until the next morning that he discovered his cash-box broken open, and gold ornaments and cash of the collective value of Rs. 1,103 missing. A window overlooking a sweeper's lane was found open.

President Taft has fixed the rates for the Panama Canal as follows: Merchant vessels carrying passengers or cargo, $1 dols. 20 per net vessel ton. Vessels in ballast without passengers or cargo, 40 per cent less than the rate of toll for vessels with passengers or cargo. For naval vessels other than transports, colliers, hospital ships and supply ships, the rate will be 50 cents per displacement ton. American coastwise shipping is exempted from payment of tolls. The rates named in the President's proclamation are practically the same as those which will be enforced at the Suez Canal this year.

"BYSTANDER," 6th November, 1912, writes of NAPIER Cars:
"It is a wise policy that leaves the cheap vehicles to fight out their own salvation and develop a distinct type of car, in which price is subservient to the requirements of high grade."
With the British Instinct for good work Messrs D. Napier & Sons have, from the first, devoted all their attention to manufacturing real good cars. They have made quality paramount to all considerations.
To the motorist or would-be motorist of restricted means, we would remind them that it is the upkeep expenditure on a car which has to be considered and which really hurts. So do not forget that cars turned out purely "at a price" are not the most economical. NAPIER means proved economy in upkeep, and a car obtainable at a moderate price, the special feature being
LOW PETROL CONSUMPTION;
LOW LUBRICATION COST;
LOW COST OF TYRES;
NO COST FOR REPAIRS.
All intelligent motorists appreciate these points.
If you regard motoring as the nearest approach to Heaven on earth, the luxurious NAPIER will even more than demonstrate such an idea.

THE PUBLIC SERVICES COMMISSION.

UNDER the presidency of the ex-Governor of New Zealand, who was a Unionist until he left his party a few years since on the Tariff-Reform question, this Commission began operations in Madras last week, and will continue recording testimony, in the various provinces of the administration, on the various points it is to investigate until the end of April when there will be an adjournment to England for a collation of the opinions gathered in a four months' itinerary. It was anticipated in the opening address of the President, which was a most concise and business-like oration, that the enquiry, so far as the Civil and Provincial Services are concerned, will be completed during this period. But there will remain the investigation of a number of special departments outside those sections of the administration, and this will be taken up next cold weather. It is improbable, therefore, that the complete report will be ready for submission for at least eighteen months from the opening of the proceedings, but as the evidence of the witnesses will be published as it is recorded, it will be possible, later on, to gauge the general trend of opinion and to estimate the influence it is likely to have upon the Commission. For there is to be no limitation of testimony, and expert witnesses with ideas on the subjects under deliberation may send in synopses of their views and ask to be examined orally, a request which will not be denied provided their replies to the questions set justify their appearance in person. This is apparent from a sentence in Lord Islington's address wherein he spoke to "the larger audience of India, on the threshold of an arduous, complicated and intensely important task, and invited on all hands assistance and co-operation in the work before the Commission." Under these conditions it should be possible to gather a voluminous amount of testimony from various standpoints which will greatly assist the President and his colleagues in reaching satisfactory conclusions on the points they are to investigate. There is, however, one regrettable omission from the programme of operations, and that is the decision to exclude the subordinate services and the ministerial establishments from the enquiry, "except in so far as they have a direct bearing on the Provincial Services," for, although they do not rank with the more exalted personnel of the administrations, they are most valuable, if poorly paid, auxiliaries, having many real grievances for adjustment. On these points, one has only to consult Lord Curzon's testimony to realise their value as allies and workers, and it is unfortunate that they will not have an opportunity of presenting their case for consideration by a body which might have been able to make some recommendations for the improvement of their status and emoluments.

The present enquiry differs from its predecessor of a quarter of a century ago, both as regards the composition of the investigating body and the scope of the mandate issued to it by Parliament. The Aitcheson Committee of the latter part of the eighties was purely local in its personnel, being composed of Anglo-Indian officials and a few Indian representatives, chosen for their knowledge of a movement which has since assumed potential proportions, and which is in reality the cause of the recent concessions in the direction of self-government. The older Commission was appointed by the Governor-General in Council with whom and the Secretary of State rested the acceptance or rejection of its verdicts and proposals. But Lord Islington and his colleagues have received their charter from the Crown—hence their designation as Royal Commissioners—on the recommendation of Parliament, and the final decision upon their report will be expressed at Westminster and not at Delhi, though both the Indian Government and their Home coadjutors will have opportunities of stating their views before the report is presented to His Majesty's faithful Commons. These reasons have doubtless influenced the composition of the body and the desire to make it as independent as possible of local official opinion, hence a proportion of those selected are men whose connections with the East are of a purely academical kind, and who are unlikely to be swayed by personal prejudices in estimating the value of the testimony placed before them. The condition is remarkable from this aspect, and it remains to be seen whether its operations will result in mutual agreement regarding the points under consideration, or if there will be a sheaf of minority reports, requiring attentive perusal by those who are to present the award to Parliament. The Civil Service has but two representatives on the Commission, instead of being the preponderating element it was in the previous, enquiry, though this paucity will be moderated by the co-option of selected officials—both European and Indian—in the provinces visited during the itinerary. Hindu and Moslem interests are typified by the inclusion of three well-known leaders, two of whom occupy exalted positions in the administration, while the third is the brilliant politician and patriot who has just returned from a mission to South Africa, where oppressive legislation has produced conditions requiring alleviation.

The matters under enquiry are of superlative importance, and are likely to have results on the future of the services, comparable with those which appeared half a century and more ago when the old principle of selection was abandoned for competitive examinations, and their results were thrown open to all subjects of the Crown irrespective of racial or domiciliary considerations. And it is clear that the Commission is fully cognisant of the great issues involved, as the President remarked in his opening address "We are here to enquire into and ultimately recommend what we deem to be improvements in the present system of the Civil Services of India. These services have earned for themselves a splendid reputation throughout the world, but with the advance of time and the development of India, it becomes necessary to subject them to periodical examination, with a view to their more complete adaptation to the new conditions of public life." The European elements of the services will have the fullest opportunities of presenting their case to the Commission, because the questions to be answered have been framed with a catholicity which covers all the points they desire to accentuate, and if we may accept the Madras proceedings as typical of future sittings, the oral examinations will be as complete and searching as it is possible to make them. While there is a host of questions requiring elucidation and solution, the crux of the situation, the Indians desire for simultaneous examinations here and in London, as sanctioned by a Parliamentary resolution that has never been applied, the separation of judicial and executive functions, and the listing of a larger number of appointments for men who are competent to fill them. These are the principal points on which Indian testimony will concentrate, though many others are included in the progressist programme, such as representative Government on Colonial lines, and the ultimate decisions of the Commission upon them will be awaited with eager interest by both sides. As the enquiry proceeds, a mass of conflicting evidence will be collected in these momentous issues, and the task of praising its value as a means of reaching impartial and unanimous findings, if the latter be possible, will be the most difficult and responsible of the Commission's operations, for upon their verdict the future of the Services will depend, as well as the appeasement of local aspirations, unsatisfied by the substantial coucessions of a few years ago.

GWALIOR AND THE POTTERY INDUSTRY.

IN the Bombay School of Arts there is an efficient pottery section, formed with the object of encouraging the development of the pottery industry on modern lines amongst Indians, and annually it turns out a number of workmen, who have been trained in the modern methods of Europe. It will be of concern to these and others, who are interested in Indian pottery, to hear of a serious attempt which is being made in the progressive state of Gwalior. It is about two years since the Durbar appointed Mr. D. C. Mazumdar, a ceramic expert, who received his training in Japan, to enquire into the prospects of the founding of pottery works in Gwalior. In the report, which he issued the other day, Mr. Mazumdar says that, while none of the clays found in Gwalior can be classed as China clay, several may be classed as silicious buff clays, resembling those of Dorset and Devon, which are largely used for deep cream-coloured and light buff glazed tiles, and yield warm, agreeable and cheerful tones of colour in the finished wares. He reports that the raw materials exist in abundance, and these materials have been tested and proved satisfactory. In India there is a greater demand for ordinary white ware, such as semi-China or stone-ware, glazed tiles, etc., than for fine first class porcelain; and the raw materials found in Gwalior are quite suitable for such articles, especially for glazed tiles. Mr. Mazumdar suggests that a pottery works should be started if possible, by private enterprize, in which the manufacture of glazed and decorated tiles should form the chief part, with a section for the manufacture of fine artistic wares on a small scale. For the art section, it would be necessary to obtain a few trained artisans from outside the State for two or three years, until local men could be trained. Thus, while the manufacture of glazed tiles would at once put the work on a commercially paying basis, the factory would, in course of time, evolve an artistic pottery side also. It is estimated that to start and equip the factory, an initial capital of Rs. 46,600 would be required. Mr. Mazumdar roughly estimates that a working capital of Rs. 48,000 would be necessary, and that on this capital there should be a profit of about 17 per cent. In framing this scheme, the opportunity, which extensive building at Delhi will afford of disposing of glazed tiles and similar goods, has not been overlooked, and the writer of the report is very sanguine of success. We shall be very happy to see so notable a development in Indian artistic enterprise established, and we may respectfully suggest that in all probability the staff of the Bombay School of Arts can be of considerable assistance to Gwalior.

GENERAL HERTZOG.

GENERAL HERTZOG'S constituency of course is in one of the most conservative parts of the Orange Free State, and the feeling there is by no means shared throughout the Union, but at the same time that consideration can make the news in recent telegrams little less disquieting. It shows that racial feeling is much harder to kill than had been imagined, that the irreconcilability of the orthodox Dutch is much more stubborn than had been supposed, and that while General Hertzog's party may represent a minority in the Union, it is not only a strong minority, but one which has enthusiasm enough and determination enough to make its influence felt. General Hertzog in his speech gave expression to an Anti-British policy, which almost warrants the description ferocious. He not only reiterated the statement that he was always prepared to sacrifice Imperial interests, when they appeared in the least to conflict with South African—or rather Dutch—expediency, but he ridiculed General Botha for having preached conciliation. His speech implies not only that he has no desire for a friendly feeling and amicable co-operation between Dutch and British, but that he does not believe that any such desire actually exists among the British. He pictures them, where the pretence succeeds, of laughing at the simple Dutchman, who has been so easily gulled. No propaganda could be more harmful to South Africa than this, appealing as it does, directly to the blind and ignorant prejudice of the veldt Boer. We trust that the sane and thinking Dutch, who follow General Botha's precepts, will join with the British in the Union in fighting such sentiments with their might and main. That General Botha should have been so savagely attacked is the one consolation of the speech. Yesterday's message makes it seem likely that already the danger of a rapprochement between the two sections of the Dutch party has been passed. South Africa seems likely to be plunged into the angry turmoil of a singularly bitter political crisis, but if out of that crisis she can emerge with a strong consolidated party, composed of progressive British and Dutch, pledged to do all they can for the amalgamation of the two races, she will have obtained a prize which will be worthy of the struggle.

THE BOOTH MEMORIALS.

We willingly invite attention to the appeal which Commissioner Booth Tucker has issued, asking for further subscriptions towards the fund for the establishment of memorials to the late General Booth, in India and Ceylon, especially seeing that the movement is one which originated in Bombay. It will be remembered that the idea of establishing such memorials, which will be closely connected with the work of the Salvation Army, originated with Mr. Ratan Tata. He promised one lakh of rupees and including that sum, Rs. 3,10,000 have been collected towards the total amount of seven and a half lakhs which is needed. Commissioner Booth Tucker, in his appeal, writes:—"Our work in India and Ceylon now includes seven distinct territories, 13 provinces and states, 12 languages, 2,935 corps and outposts, 235 European missionaries, 2,608 Indian officers, 485 day and boarding schools, 12,270 scholars, 11 settlements for criminal tribes, caring for 2,300 settlers, five farm colonies, the land occupied being about 25,000 acres, 10 hospitals and dispensaries, 4 rescue homes for fallen girls, 19 weaving and five silk schools. The memorials, therefore, for which we are appealing, and from which our friends, members and donors can make their selection, are of a very varied character."

THE LOVE GROVE OUTFALL.

THIS very much discussed question has reached another stage with the publication of Mr. Midgeley Taylor's report, and we hope that this time there is a probability of some action being taken. Our readers need scarcely be reminded that the question has been under consideration for over 20 years, and nothing has ever been done because after receiving the reports of various eminent engineers the Corporation has always decided that the schemes submitted are too expensive. Various proposals have been made both for improving the outfall at its present situation and for constructing a new outfall at Colaba, but none of them has been adopted, the outfall at Love Grove has remained unaltered, and in consequence an area, which should be one of the healthiest and most desirable residential districts in the island, remains unfit to be developed for this purpose on account of the nuisance, which arises from the works. Mr. Taylor's report shows that there has been no real reason for delay. It has always been obvious that action is necessary, and the latest expert advice merely confirms that, which has been tendered on previous occasions. Mr. Taylor recommends that a deep sea outfall be constructed at Love Grove, and recommends that it be constructed according to the reports of Sir John Wolfe Barry as to manner, and of the Executive Engineer as to line. We should like to join with the Commissioner, Mr. Cadell, in urging upon the Corporation to undertake this most necessary work at the earliest possible moment. Further delay can only result in further injury to the best interests of the city.

THE Most Rev. Ladislas Michael Zaleski, Domestic Prelate to the Pope, Archbishop of Thebes and Apostolic Delegate to Delhi has arrived in Madras.

THE WORLD OF SPORT.

ATHLETICS.

(FROM OUR SPORTING CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, DEC. 27.

One of the great charms associated with the pastime of cross-country running (or paper-chasing as it was known in the time when "Tom Brown's Schooldays" was written) is the splendid medium it affords for the meeting of old and new chums. It is a real pleasure to participate in a run with some of the London clubs, such as the Thames Hare and Hounds, Blackheath Harriers, South London Harriers, Ranelagh Harriers, United Hospitals A.C., and a few others which might be mentioned. Many of the old-time athletes, some even grandparents, frequently assist in laying the trail for the runners. Whilst the pack is out, there is the usual "confab" between "giants of the past" and many a hard race is "re-run."

After the run or race comes the feed, and how those harriers can do justice to it. A concert, and a few speeches, pass away a pleasant hour or so, and everyone goes home feeling it is good to be alive. In recent times, some of the clubs have hit on a capital scheme for bringing out runners of all classes of ability. Instead of inter-club races between teams of six or nine, it is allowable to start all the members, counting up the positions of the first forty or fifty at the finish. The idea has caught on and it certainly leads to big musters and brings many "lights of other days" to the fore again. Such a race was decided last Saturday, when the Blackheath and Ranelagh Harriers were in opposition. The Ranelah pack supplied the first man home in J. F. Lintott, as well as five of the first half dozen. This did not prevent the Blackheath club from winning the team-race, however, with the lower score of 1426½ to 1694½, which illustrates that an average team often beats one with a few cracks and a weak "tail". It should be mentioned that the positions occupied by the first thirty-nine from each club were counted.

PAPERCHASING FOR TRACK RUNNERS.

It is probable that there will always be a difference of opinion as to whether cross-country running is beneficial or harmful for purely track athletes. The writer feels convinced that all athletes, whether sprinters, jumpers, hurclers, swimmers, cyclists, or boxers would derive benefit from steady jogs across country in suitable wheather. He would not suggest that racing and training for cross-country running would lead to like benefits, however. Some track runners have certainly improved after racing across country, but, generally speaking, the brilliant performer up to a mile on the track should not race across country. Plenty of examples can be given to show that great "miles" have raced over field and fallow.

W. G. George, W. Snook, J. Kibblewhite, H. Wade, F. E. Bacon, and T. P. Conneff are a few examples. They were all great, natural stayers, however, and cannot be considered with the rank and file.

It is worthy of note that J. Paul-Jones of Cornell and N. Taber of Brown University were first and second in the last Inter-Collegiate Cross-country Championship of America. What grand milers they are must be known to many readers. Jones holds the world's amateur record of 4mins. 15 2-5secs., whilst Taber was only about three yards behind A. N. L. Jackson in the 1,500 metres race at the Olympic Games, the performance being equal to a mile in 4min. 17secs. The crack milers at the English universities seldom go in for cross-country racing. W. Pollock Hill was an exception, and R. S. Clarke of Cambridge competed last year against Oxford. F. J. K. Cross, W. E. Luytens, Henderson-Hamilton, and F. E. Baker are examples to the contrary. A. N. L. Jackson does not race across country, though he assisted as a trail layer in the recent match between Oxford and Cambridge. His policy is probably the wise one, and it is what the writer's experience would lead him to advise. Briefly then, cross-country running, at a suitable pace (slow), is beneficial to all followers of sports and pastimes. On the other hand, racing across country is best left alone by all, save the robust stayer, and whose lack of pace does not enable him to shine at distances less than one mile.

SPORTSMEN AND PATRIOTS.

Major Curtiss, who takes a great interest in the National Service League, is to address the executive of the Football Association in March, in an effort to get that body to assist the National Service movement. Major Curtiss points out that 750,000 amateurs and 5,000 professionals are playing Association football under the auspices of the F. A. They must be physically fit to do so, and therefore well qualified to make themselves good citizens. It would be a grand thing for England if all the sporting clubs made it a condition of membership that every applicant must be (or have been) a soldier, a sailor, a Territorial or a naval volunteer. Then, if we could only get a party patriotic enough to pass a law restricting the franchise in future to men with a like qualification, we should be better off in some respects than if conscription were the rule.

BILLIARDS.

It will be a long time before sportsmen cease to talk over the great form of Tom Reece in the closing stages of his match with Inman. After the latter had overcome the handicap of 1,250 points in 18,000 up (twice going to the front), Reece came along splendidly. His crowning effort was a break of 740. It was on the last night but one, that he found his best form, an effort of 600 unfinished enabling him to secure a fine lead. Great excitement among the onlookers rather upset Reece, when he resumed on Saturday, but he overcame several difficulties until the break totalled 740, when he failed at a screw-cushion cannon off the red when using the "rest". Inman was one of the first to congratulate Reece, whose effort well beat his previous best of 692. The break is the highest of the season with ivory balls, Stevenson's 1,016 having been made with composite balls. Reece ran up a matter of 697 points in the evening, whilst Inman was making 197, Reece finally winning by 1,707 points. It is the first time he has defeated Inman in a money match, and, as he has been trying to do so for ten years, his success must have been very pleasing.

THE TURF.

It looks as though Braxtead is a fine recruit to the ranks of hurdle racers. He made his debut at the Newbury meeting, winning the Berkshire Hurdle Race in fine style. He had some good rivals against him, but, after taking the obstacles in fine style, his speed soon settled matters when it came to the run in. Braxtead is owned by Sir T. Dewar, who is now after big game in Africa.

Touching on the Newbury meeting, a feature of the sport was the success of the Weyhill stable, that establishment furnishing three winners which speaks well for the ability of the brothers H. and F. Hartigan.

BIG WINNINGS.

The amounts won by the leading owners in different countries during the past flat-racing season make interesting reading. Taking them in order, we find the Graditz stud of Germany on top with £40,541, and then come Mr. de Lazareff of Russia £33,500; Baron Springer, Austro-Hungary, £28,206; Baron Gouigand of France, £24,868; Mr. T. Pilkington of England, £20,820. It may surprise many sportsmen to find the English and French leaders so far down the list, but the winnings in these countries are far more widely distributed than in Germany and Russia, which is all the better for racing.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

Although the English team beat the North in the final trial game at Leeds by 3 goals and 5 tries to 2 tries, experts are not very confident that the home side will beat the South Africans. The selection of the fifteen has been left until the eleventh hour, instead of picking a team a month in advance, and arranging six trial matches. The South Africans were hardly put to it to beat the Cardiff team on Saturday. The Welshmen actually crossed their rivals' line for a try and also scored a penalty goal (6 points), whilst the South Africans dropped a goal and also scored a penalty goal (7 points). The Cardiff players made a very favourable impression, and during the second half the home forwards carried several scrums, getting the ball out to the halves. It almost looks as though some of the visitors are feeling the effects of many hard games, for they did not stay on like the locals.

THE THIRD DEFEAT.

Our visitors had to acknowledge another reverse at Swansea on Boxing Day (Dec. 26th). The home side put up a fine performance, and so retained their unbeaten record for the season. The Swansea team is probably the lightest the Springboks have met during the tour, which shows that other things (speed, stamina, fine tackling, and the ability to take chances) will often off-set the matter of weight. The visitors had several chances to score, but they failed to quite "get there." The one try of the match came about from a fine forward movement. Moulton, Hayward and D. J. Thomas were prominent in a nice dribble, the last named being the lucky player to touch the ball after it had been kicked over the line. The home side lacked the assistance of Bancroft, and three other of the regular players were absentees. There were 35,000 people present and they were really enthusiastic, their songs and cheers evidently inspiring the Swansea team.

ASSOCIATION.

The Christmas holiday matches often mean trouble for the home players, their friends' hospitality having a tendency to upset good form. On the other hand, the visiting men are under the watchful eyes of trainer and manager, with the natural result that they are more fit for the fray. No fewer than four of the first League matches ended in defeats for the home club on Christmas Day, whilst two other home teams could only draw. Matters were not quite so bad on Boxing Day, though prominent home teams in the Blackburn Rovers, Sunderland and Sheffield United went down before their own supporters. Aston Villa put in the finest performance of the day, by beating their visitors from Oldham by 7 goals to 1, Hampton scoring three of the goals.

IN GENERAL.

Harverson is well ahead of C. Dawson in their billiard match of 7,000 up on level terms.

Harry Lewis of America showed all his old dash during his boxing match with Mathieson at Liverpool, yesterday, the Scotchman being knocked out in the third round.

The Surrey A. C. 15 miles open road running race, yesterday, ended in favour of W. J. Collier (a veteran), who ran the course in 1 hour 29 mins. 31 secs.

The annual Christmas morning swimming handicap in the Serpentine lake (open water) attracted 46 competitors, and ended in favour of W. J. Holley, a good seasonable name.

During the Bristol Rovers v. Merthyr Town football match, yesterday, the former scoring six goals in 22 mins.

NEW HOSIERY INDUSTRY IN INDIA.

We distribute with our to-day's issue the prospectus of Macdonald's Hosiery Mills, which has been formed for the purpose of the manufacture of hosiery (socks, stockings, underwear, etc.), and other products of a kindred nature from the various fibres, especially wool, cotton and silk. The prospectus gives the figures of hosiery imported into India; which shows that there is a vast field for this industry in this country. The figures of the approximate profit stated therein are tempting, and even the prices are comparatively lower than those of imported articles. It will be seen that the Company will be able to compete with the foreign hosiery imported into India. We see that there will be also a dyeing and bleaching department, also in connection with this mill, which will also add to the profits already stated in the prospectus. There will be seen in the prospectus the names of the leading and experienced merchants who will supervise and control the management of the Mill. The names of the directors are as follows:—

Mr. James Macdonald (ex-Sheriff, Bombay).
Sir Bhalchandra Krishna Bhatvadekar, Kt., LL.M., J.P.
The Hon. Dr. D. A. d'Monte, M.D., L.R.C.P., L.M. and S., M.R.C.S., L.M.F.S.A., F.R.G.S., M.R.A.S., J.P.
Mr. Sakebhai Karimji Barodavala, J.P.
Mr. Shapoorjee N. Chandabhoy, F.R.I.B.A., etc. (architect and civil engineer.)
Mr. B. B. Joshi, B.A., LL.B., Bar-at-Law.
Mr. Devidas Madhowji Thackersey, J.P. (Messrs. Madhowji Thackersey and Co., piece-goods merchants).
Mr. Hansraj Pragji Thackersey (Messrs. Thackersey Mulji and Co.).
Mr. Govindji Hursey Poonsey (Messrs. Hirji Jetha and Co.).

It is, of course, qualifying on the part of the agents, Messrs. G. H. Poonsey and brothers, who have undertaken to supply the long-felt demand of this country, by starting this "New Hosiery Mills, Ltd.," after working a new power factory for three years. The agents, after thoughtful consideration, with regard to the interests of the shareholders, have invested a clause in their Articles of Association, providing that they receive no commission, if the profits of the

THE NEW DELHI.

Consultation of Local Architects.

LONDON, JAN. 13.

Replying to Mr. King in the House of Commons, Mr. Harold Baker said, with reference to the new Delhi, that there were doubtless in India professional builders and architects, outside the Public Works Department, of varying degrees of skill and experience. The Government of India was not likely to be ignorant of their existence, or to refrain from consulting them on any matter where their acquaintance with local building conditions would be valuable.

UNIONIST POLICY.

Slight Modification of Memorial.

TWO SPEECHES.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.

LONDON, JAN. 12.

Mr. Bonar Law and Lord Lansdowne had another conference, to-night. It is understood in the lobby that they agree upon their policy regarding the Memorial with a slight modification.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S CRITICISM.

LONDON, JAN. 14.

In a speech at Birmingham on the fiscal question, Mr. Austen Chamberlain admitted that the decision at present was against him, the great majority of the party taking the opposite view. This was first time that he had been unable to share responsibility for the party's decision, which might be a calamity for the party and a misfortune for the Empire. He did not suppose, however, that he could always have his own way, and he would do his best to support his leaders.

SPEECH BY MR. SMITH.

Mr. F. E. Smith, speaking at Cricklewood, said that, as the papers no longer had the war to play with, they had been full of supposed Unionist discord.

"I tell you," he said, "that there have never have been any points of principle in conflict. We thought it necessary, preparatory to the adoption of Preference, to discuss the re-adjustment of food duties with the Colonies. The only difference of opinion was whether, if the discussion resulted in favour of fresh food duties, it would be proper, after our policy had been clearly explained to the people now, for us to introduce changes after the next general election, or to hold a second election as a final precaution. I hope that I am not making a premature announcement when I tell you that the conclusion which will probably be reached, and which, perhaps, has already been reached, is that there will not be the slightest risk of our introducing a policy which we have not submitted to the constituencies in all its details."

Let no one think he added, that Tariff Reform had been abandoned. The first Unionist budget would enact a general tariff on foreign goods.

CHINESE FINANCE.

Russia Implies Need for the Six-Power Loan.

PEKING, JAN. 14.

Russia has presented a Note to China, pointing out that she did not agree to the postponement of payments of the Boxer indemnity, and asking how China proposes to make immediate payment of the Russian portion.

A second Note complains of the large circulation of Chinese Government bank notes in the Kulja region, for which there is no silver equivalent, and states that heavy depreciation is causing serious losses to Russian merchants. The Note asks how China proposes to remedy the matter.

It is believed that the Notes are intended to impress China with the necessity for the immediate conclusion of the Six-Power Loan. The bank notes in question were issued by the Manchu Government.

MAHARAJA OF JHALAWAR.

Banquetted by his Friends in London.

LONDON, JAN. 14.

Speaking at the last of a series of dinners given at the Waldorf Hotel by his numerous friends here, the Maharaj Rana of Jhalawar said that the sombre creed of anarchy had found recruits only among an exceedingly limited class. The overwhelming majority of Indians desired nothing more than peace, good laws, and equal opportunity for all, and while these were vouchsafed, the Government of India would command the respect and obedience of the Indian people.

Sir William Evans Gordon said that no ruling prince was more deserving than their host, of every help and encouragement which it was in the power of Government to bestow.

SOUTH AFRICAN POLITICS.

Possible Re-casting of all Parties.

JOHANNESBURG, JAN. 14.

General Hertzog's speech at Smithfield has accentuated the split between the progressive and reactionary Nationalists. If the adherents of General Hertzog force a rupture, it is believed that General Botha will appeal to the country, in which event a total re-casting of parties is foreshadowed.

JOHANNESBURG, JAN. 14.

General Botha, in an interview, said that General Hertzog's speech might be regarded as a declaration of war.

HOME RULE BILL.

BRITISH RAILWAY SMASH.

Accident Caused by Frozen Signal.

ANOTHER COLLISION.

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

LONDON, JAN. 13.

During a fog this afternoon the Midland express crashed into a Walsall passenger train at Saltley, a suburb of Birmingham.

The rear coaches of the passenger train were telescoped. So far two dead bodies have been removed from the wreckage, and forty injured. The passengers were pinned beneath the wreckage. The engine of the express was overturned. Doctors with ambulances hurried from Birmingham, and a special train was sent to convey the injured.

The accident was due to the signal freezing in a downward position.

THE FOG SPREADS.

A SECOND ACCIDENT.

THE VICEROY'S CONDITION.

Neuritis Develops in right Arm.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

DELHI, JAN. 14.

A bulletin issued at Viceregal Lodge at 8-30 a. m. to-day says :—

His Excellency the Viceroy passed a restless night. Neuritis has developed in the right arm.

The following telegram was sent to the Private Secretary to the Viceroy on behalf of the Indian Christian Association of Bombay.

"Indian Christian (Protestant) community beg to express their abhorrence at the dastardly attempt on the life of their beloved Viceroy and their thankfulness to God for merciful protection of Lord and Lady Hardinge."

The Private Secretary replied as follows :—

To B. N. Athavle, Chairman. Indian Christian Association, Bombay. Many thanks for message of sympathy sent by the members, which will be laid before Viceroy on recovery. I am sure he will greatly appreciate it.

COTTON FIRE AT COLABA.

At about 7-30 p.m. a police ramosie perceived smoke issuing from the bales of cotton belonging to Messrs. Ralli Brothers and stacked at the cotton green, Colaba, and he gave the alarm and informed the Colaba police, who at once communicated with various stations in the city. Mr. Vincent, Deputy Commissioner of Police, Mr. Guider, Inspector of Colaba Division, Deputy Inspector Home, Sub-Inspector Cassum arrived on the spot and did everything to help in putting out the flames. The Fort fire-engine, under Mr. Williams which arrived first, with the assistance of the Colaba Salvage Corps, brought the fire under control in half an hour's time, and before 8-30 it was completely extinguished. The help of some sixty men under Mr. Muncherji, a contractor to the B. B. and C. I. Railway was obtained by the police. The Bhuleshwar, Byculla and Colaba engines also arrived, but their services were not requisitioned.

The cause of the fire is not known. Four hundred and eighty-five bales were damaged. And it is roughly estimated that the amount of damage is about Rs. 8,000 wholly covered by insurance.

Gas under high pressure is by far the cheapest and most powerful illuminant known and is particularly suitable for mills, big shops, godowns, railway stations, all large open spaces and streets.

MARCONI COMMITTEE.

Issues Important Interim Report.

SELECTION OF SITES.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, JAN. 13.

An interim report of the Marconi Committee affirms that it is urgent that a Imperial chain of stations should be established as proposed in the agreement. The Committee is therefore of opinion that, whatever system is eventually adopted, steps should be immediately taken to purchase sites large enough for Marconi stations.

The Committee also recommends the appointment of a technical committee to consider various systems.

GOVERNMENT'S INTENTIONS.

Giving evidence before the Marconi enquiry, Sir Herbert Samuel said he had consulted the War Office, the Colonial High Commissioners and others, regarding the interim report.

The Government was glad that the Committee had sanctioned the immediate selection of sites, and would be very happy to carry out the suggestion, which was most important. The Government was ready to send a commission, in co-operation with the Admiralty, to select an Egyptian site, within two months. From Egypt the commission would proceed to East Africa. Enquiries were also necessary in India and at Singapore.

He suggested, however, that the scheme should not be held up till more distant sites had been selected. He emphasised the advisability of exports testing actual systems within a fixed date, so as to obviate delay.

THE GREAT MAGH MELA.

Pilgrims' Prayers for the Viceroy.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, JAN. 14.

The annual Magh Mela, or bathing festival gathering, at the confluence of the sacred rivers, Ganges and Jamuna, has commenced. Yesterday there was a large gathering of Hindus assembled from different parts of India at the confluence, and prayers were offered for the speedy recovery of the Viceroy.

The Maharaja of Darbanga, who presided, addressed the gathering in the vernacular, to the effect that loyalty to the King formed one the of principal articles of faith with the Hindus, and the diabolical outrage had caused deep anguish to them. That being the most sacred and suitable place, and the day of "Makar Sankerant" most auspicious, all Hindus assembled from different parts of India were united in offering their prayers for the providential escape of their Excellencies.

SERVICES COMMISSION.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MADRAS, JAN. 14.

The Public Service Commission reassembled this morning. Mr. Horne was the first witness examined. In answer to the President, he said that he recognised that his answer to the question relating to simultaneous examinations was somewhat too strongly expressed. He had no desire to give offence. He was not altogether satisfied with the results of the present system.

In reply to Mr. Morison, he said he had reason to think the present system of recruitment to the Indian Civil Service did not catch the best men in England.

Replying to Mr. Chaubal, he said, if his method of recruiting Indians was adopted, he would close the door of entry to the service by English examinations to them.

The Rev. I. A. Andrew was the next witness examined, after which the Commission adjourned for lunch.

The Commission re-assembled after lunch, when Mr. G. F. Paddison was examined. In reply to the president, he said that promotion was blocked for the reason that few Madras senior officers were called up to Simla. Witness could only say that, if, as the president had stated, Madras had been exceptionally well treated in this respect, it was a very lean year at present. Witness was also examined by Lord Ronaldshay, Mr. Chaubal and Mr. Gokhale, and the Commission adjourned for the day.

ENGLISH PRESS COMMENT.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, JAN. 14.

With reference to a recent telegram stating that an arrest had been made at Dehra Dun, in connection with the Delhi outrage, the Leader publishes the following facts, stated to be on the best authority :—

On January first an inspector of the C. I. D. went to Lala Bulaki Ram to get certain information from Lala Ram Sarup, his son. The latter had gone to Delhi with his sister on December 22nd, to leave her with her husband Babu, Mulraj, Civil Assistant Surgeon. On December 23rd he saw the procession from a spot near the place where the bomb was thrown. It was therefore necessary to enquire from him if he had seen any suspicious person or circumstance. Lala Bulaki Ram thought it his duty to help the police, so he willingly allowed the Inspector to take Lala Ram Sarup to Delhi to have his statement recorded. Lala Ram Sarup had to wait for two or three days at Delhi, as Rai Ganga Ram who had to record his statement, was too busy with other work in hand. Lala Ram Sarup was sent back to Dehra Dun after his statement had been recorded, and all his expenses were paid by Government.

PROBABLE CONNIVANCE.

Commenting on the outrage, a writer in the "Manchester Guardian" says :—"The throwing of a bomb is the act of an individual, but Russian experience has shown that when it is a political bomb it means the existence of at least a sympathetic social atmosphere. To obtain the necessary chemicals in secret, to manufacture the bombs, to experiment with them in secret, to keep them in hiding until the day of the attempt, then to carry them and hold them in readiness, and finally to make good the escape—all this requires not only an organisation and a considerable outlay of money, but also a degree of vigilance that is impossible without the connivance of outsiders wholly unsuspected by the police. It is no secret that all through the terroristic stage of the Russian revolutionary movement, the terrorists enjoyed the sympathy of the more moderate section of reformers. They supplied them with money, placed at their disposal "conspiracy rooms," and helped them to escape after the execution of the attempt. When this passive and semi-active sympathy with the terrorists ceased in Russia, they were only able to continue their activity with the assistance of the police themselves, as proved by the celebrated Azeff case. On the whole, it may be said, on the strength of Russian experience, that no amount of individual depravity or individual fanaticism is sufficient to produce a terroristic movement (as distinguished from sporadic acts of terrorism such as may be the result of individual aberration) unless the perpetrators know that they have the secret sympathy of others.

WHY TWINS ARE ALIKE.

When the local Board of Guardians were recently discussing the case of a deaf and dumb Chertsay girl for whom admission was being sought to a home, the curious fact came out that the girl had only been deaf and dumb since the death of her twin sister. The very day the other twin died the survivor lost her speech and hearing.

The amazingly close physical resemblance that twins often bear to one another is often accompanied by a curious sympathy that smacks almost of the supernatural. The late Sir Francis Galton, the great scientist, made a special study of the subject and announced that with some pairs of twins that had come under his notice the two seemed not so much two separate beings as one cut in two, each half feeling whatever affected the other, whether physically or mentally.

There is, for instance, a case on record in which two twins had at the age of twenty-three their first experience of toothache. The pain came to both on the same day and the same tooth had to be extracted in each case. These twins were remarkably alike and very fond of each other. They both obtained Government clerkships and kept house together. When one sickened and died of Bright's disease the other fell a victim to the same disease (which is not contagious) shortly after.

KNEW HIS BROTHER WAS ILL.

That the physical likeness of twins extends much deeper than the skin, is also shown by a curious case that the medical papers were discussing some time ago. A Paris hospital doctor had under his charge a patient suffering from an attack of rheumatic opthalmia. One day the patient remarked :

"My twin brother must be having ophthalmia just now."

The doctor smiled at the idea, but next morning the patient handed him a letter from the other twin, then at Vienna. It began with the words, "I am down with ophtalmia I suppose you have it too?"

Twins, researches show, are nearly always either so alike that it is almost impossible to tell the difference between them, or else very unlike one another indeed. Cases in which they are only moderately alike are comparatively rare.

When they are very unlike each other (and when one is a boy and the other a girl, this is practically always the case) the physical unlikeness is accompanied by a similar mental one.

When the characters of twins are not exactly the same they are exactly the opposite of one another. One will be quick self-confident, and quick-tempered, but quick to forgive; the other is slow, shy, and good tempered, but slow to forgive when roused.

WHAT THE SCIENTISTS SAY.

Many pairs of twins, as everyone knows, are difficult or almost impossible to tell a part. In the case of these striking resemblances the similarity of character which accompanies it breaks out in curious ways. A London newspaper recently drew attention to a couple of Peckham twins, named Evans, who bewilder the stranger by making the same remarks simultaneously, and begin humming the same song at the same moment. There are lots of similar cases on record.

The theory that a curious telepathy exists between twins, or, as scientists put it, that their minds are in duplicate, is borne out by the number of twins who are in the habit of finishing one another's sentences.

One of the most curious instances of this similarity of ideas among twins—one inquired into and authenticated by Sir Francis Galton himself—is that of a man who, travelling in Scotland, bought a set of champagne glasses which caught his attention as a surprise for his twin brother, while at the same time his brother was buying an exactly similar set as a surprise for the first twin.

However startlingly alike they may be in face, ways, and mind, the man who knows a pair of twins can readily verify the curious fact that in one point the likeness never holds. No two twins, for some inexplicable reason, ever write alike.

INQUESTS.

MILL-HAND SCALDED.

The Coroner, Mr. G. F. Chalk, held an inquest yesterday, at the Morgue, on view of the body of Mahadev Hari, a mill operative, aged about forty-five.

The deceased was employed in the Bombay Woollen Mill at Dadar. His duty was to wash cloth. On Sunday last, he was severely scalded by a hot soap solution that was being pumped into a tank. He was removed to the Sir J. J. Hospital, where he died the next night. The deceased was able to state that in closing the lid of the tanks, he had slipped and fallen inside. But the finishing master found that the lid had given way and concluded that the deceased had walked across it, which there was no necessity for him to have done, as it was only two yards from the ground, and a ladder was provided. Witness considered the accident was due to deceased's carelessness.

The jury returned the verdict that the deceased had been scalded to death by his having accidentally fallen into a boiling solution of soap.

MORAL INSTRUCTION.

First of Mr. Gould's Series of Lectures.

HON. MR. HILL'S SPEECH.

Under engagement with the Government of Bombay, Mr. F. J. Gould, demonstrator to the Moral Instruction Leagues, yesterday delivered the first of his series of lectures, at 5 p. m., in the hall of the Elphinstone High School. The Hon. Mr. Claude Hill presided.

Among those present were the Hon. Mr. P. D. Patani, Mr. W. H. Sharp, Director of Public Instruction, Mr. James Macdonald, the Hon. Mr. Lalubhai Samaldas, Sir Vithaldas D. Thackersey, Mr. Tribhowandas Mangaldas, Mr. Jeejeebhoy P. Mistry, Mr. J. N. Fraser, Mr. Dorabji Wadia, Mr. Rustam P. Masani, Mr. John Anderson, Mr. C. R. Richardson and a number of teachers representing many local schools. The Chairman, in opening the proceedings, said :—

"I am not going to detain you long, as I know that you are anxious to hear Mr. Gould without any vexatious delays ; but I must ask your indulgence for a few moments, as I think it may be useful to you if I briefly describe the inception of the idea of Moral Education, which Mr. Gould is going to develop to you and exemplify. Just as in India, so in Europe, the growth of knowledge and the widening of the intellectual outlook have given rise to a habit of freedom of thought; which, in turn, has caused a general loosening of the shackles of dogma. In so far as this is an indication of individual thought, and of the consciousness of personal responsibility, it is all to the good. But, like all revolutions, material, industrial or moral, it carries in its train certain dangerous elements which, through misunderstanding or neglect, may occasion temporary disaster to the community. A loosening of religious beliefs means the temporary lifting of the anchor above which has ridden the ship of the community upon the rising tide of civilization. We have to make shift to avert catastrophe by staying, somehow or other, the drift, until we can find sound bottom again.

"Now, all the great religions of the world have had their root in fundamental moral truths; but in order to appeal to the intelligence of the people, it has been necessary to clothe them in various, and widely differing garments. Some of these garments are worn out, or are thought to be worn out; some are anachronistic and distasteful. Yet the great fundamental truths remain, and the danger of this transitional period lies in the risk lest, having discarded some of these bedeckments as untrue, we should lose sight of, or refuse to see, the underlying substance. We, who have lived long enough, and have had the opportunity to think these things out for ourselves, must endeavour not to forget that there are others not so fortunately placed; and that, if we do de that certain food is no longer good for them, we are bound to supply other nourishment—especially to the young. People, perhaps rightly, may object to their children being brought up in the strict tenets of a particular doctrine regarding some of which they themselves have become sceptical; but no parent with a proper sense of responsibility, wishes to see his family brought up without any conception of the fundamental moral truths and principles which are the basic framework of all the great religions.

"It is perfectly true, as stated by the Bishop of Bombay in the course of his address to the Teacher's Association, that if school-masters all realized adequately their responsibilities, moral education as a separate and definite part of the curriculum of our schools, would be unnecessary. But unfortunately, all our schoolmasters are not heaven-sent geniuses. To the truly gifted teacher it is possible to evolve, for his pupils (as I once heard it expressed) a moral lesson out of the equality of the angles at the base of an isosceles triangle. So long as the average teacher remains, as at present, hardly conscious of the virtue of knowing why it is an advantage to learn the bare fact of the equality of the angles, leaving aside all moral deductions, there is a very urgent necessity for the direct teaching of certain moral truths. It is of course the case that every lesson, on every subject, offers openings to the teacher for the inculcation of these ; but, looking back to my own boyhood, I hardly recollect one master who took advantage of these openings, and it was at the class for religious knowledge mainly that moral principles were expounded.

"Abolish the direct religious instruction, or, as in India, postulate its absence on principle, and what hope have we that the great body of teachers will be able to make good the loss in the ordinary course of their class instruction ? I do not think there will be many honest thinkers who will quarrel with me if I say that part at least, of the shortcomings of our educational system in India is due to the entire absence of either direct religious or moral instruction from the curriculum of our schools. I expressed that view with all the force at my command, two years ago in England ; and I am glad to say that it has found some sympathy among Indians. Meanwhile, the Government of Bombay had caused the preparation to be undertaken of moral text-books, borrowed largely from those written by my friend, Mr. Gould, and largely used in England.

"How best to utilize these text books still remains to be shown, and our lecturer of to-day is here to give you information, advice and an example on this head. I earnestly trust that you will not only listen attentively (you will hardly be able to do otherwise) to what Mr. Gould has to say ; but also that you will carry away with you the food for thought which he will supply, and will determine to profit to the utmost by his teaching."

Mr. Gould then began demonstrating his method, and put several questions to the schoolboys who were seated in front of the lecturer's platform.

SITE FOR AN INCINERATOR.

The Committee of the Corporation which was asked to further consider their report, dated the 7th September 1911, regarding the question of putting up an incinerator for the disposal of refuse has now submitted a fresh report. It runs as follows:

It will be remembered that the Committee in their report had recommended the adoption of the Carnac Bridge site as the most suitable for the location of the proposed incinerator, but there being a great diversity of opinion among the members of the Corporation as regards the suitability of the site, the matter has come up again for futher consideration. In the meanwhile the Committee have been asked to report on the letter, from Mr. Sayaji Naguji and others, residents and house-owners of Kamathipura, protesting against a proposal to erect a refuse incinerator at Kamathipura. In connection with this subject it will be remembered that the site of the old morgue in Kamathipura was suggested as a suitable place for the location of another incinerator, and the Committee had suggested that the Commissioner should bring before the Corporation a proposal for the acquisition of the morgue property for Municipal purposes, so that it may be available, should it hereafter be decided to instal an incinerator in that neighbourhood. The Commissioner, however, states that the morgue site, though centrally situated, would be somewhat cramped, and it would be difficult to accommodate the carts coming to the incinerator without keeping them on the road. The Commissioner further points out that the morgue site is in comparative proximity to a large number of dwelling houses and that although he believes that an incinerator would cause no nuisance, it will be as well to put it on a site which is as open as possible so long as it is also central. He therefore suggests that the site of the Municipal Milch Cattle Stable on Bapty Road, admeasuring 8,925 square yards, should be approved for locating the incinerator. This site has the great advantage of having open spaces on the south and west and has roads all round it. The Milch Cattle Stable which is maintained by the Municipality as a model for other stables is in any case in need of repairs and could be reconstructed on the morgue site. The Committee have very carefully considered the subject in consultation with the Commissioner and they beg to recommend that the site of the Municipal Milch Cattle Stable on Bapty Road as suggested by the Commissioner should be approved for installing an incinerator and that the question of the erection of an incinerator near Carnac Bridge or on the Palton Road site should be held over until the results of the working of the Bapty Road incinerator are known.

THE GOLD ROBBERY.

Examination of the sealed Boxes.

THIEVES' METHODS.

A further stage in the inquiry into the theft of gold while in transit from the Bank of England to Egypt was reached on Dec. 22 [illegible] when the two boxes filled with lead [illegible] which have been returned from Alexandria for examination were found to be the original cases in which 10,000 sovereigns were packed and sent from London on November 12. The consignment, of which the stolen gold formed part, was valued at £200,000. During the journey 10,000 sovereigns were taken from two of the boxes and lead was substituted.

The returned boxes reached London on Dec. 20, and the examination on Monday, which was carried out in the presence of representatives of the Bank of England, the Credit Lyonnais the underwriters and the City police, showed that the wax seals had been cut and the top of the boxes had been prised open with a "jemmy." The makers of the boxes were able to identify every part, including the iron bands and the nails. The top and the bottom were made of seasoned deal and the sides of teak—a hard wood which was used to ensure a firm hold for nails. Five eight wax seals were secured on the joints of the deal with the teak. The seals had been cut through at the joints, apparently by a fine chisel. The break in the face of the seal was afterwards filled in by molten wax, and close examination was necessary to discover any flaw. The forcing open of the top of the box so as to leave no incriminating marks on the outside was an equally delicate task. Several thick 2in. nail—drived through the lin. deal cover into the solid teak to the depth of another inch—had been levered up. The methods in this instance were similar to those employed some time since in the robbery of £5,000 worth of bar gold sent from a Swiss bank in London—also by way of Bremen—to Berne.

The blocks of lead inserted in the Credit Lyonnais boxes exactly corresponded in weight to the 5,000 sovereigns. The boxes had been weighed at the Bank of England, on being taken on board ship in the Thames, and on their arrival at Bremen. On the overland journey from Bremen to Trieste they had also been weighed, and once more before being shipped at Trieste for Alexandria. No suspicion of the robbery arose, apparently, until the consignment had reached its destination.

The authorities adhere to their opinion that the robbery took place during the transit of the boxes overland.

It is understood that the insurance rate for gold from London to Alexandria by way of Bremen and Trieste has been doubled since the robbery was discovered, Whereas 1s. 3d. per cent. had been paid 2s. 6d. per cent. is now being quoted. Since the robbery large quantities of gold have been sent all the way by sea from London by the P. and O. liners, and some very large shipments have been so made.

THE DIVORCE COMMISSION.

American Opinion on the two Reports.

In spite of the confidence with which the Minority Report of the Divorce Commission adduced American opinion as well as American experience to support its conclusions, transatlantic comment, so far as it has become articulate, sides (says "The Times" Washington correspondent) strongly with the majority. Even the "Outlook," in the direction of whose policies Mr. Roosevelt has great influence, and which, originally a Church organ, still pursues its Liberalism in the Gladstonian manner, states that it "agrees without any qualification with the fundamental proposition of the majority of the Commission."

The "Boston Transcript" praises the Majority Report for showing "just that same thoughtful, well-considered temper—courageous innovation governed by due caution—which the jurists of the world have long and rightly been accustomed to expect from the law-makers of England"; and attacks the Minority for the way in which it thinks they have been actuated during the hearing and in the formulation of their report, but the fallacy that the "absence of demand for divorce among the poor was due to some other cause than the knowledge that divorce was beyond their reach."

The "Evening Post" notes with approval the concurrence of the Minority in the necessity for certain changes and improvements in the English marriage laws, but thinks that the Minority do not go far enough.

Like the "New York Times," it quotes Dr. Dike, the corresponding secretary of the League for the Protection of the Family, who the minority Report cities in substantially the opposite sense, to the effect that at first there would be an increase in English divorces, but that very soon the number would settle back to little above what it is now. "That would imply that the remedying of a few cases of flagrant injustice would not seriously affect the general English opinion on the sanctity of marriage."

Many American advocates of easy divorce are not apparently contended, as their English sympathisers would be, with arguing in favour of the six grounds for divorce suggested by Mr. Roosevelt's Congress. They deny that divorce is at the best necessary evil. Conflicting and easy laws, lax judges and their evil communications, are rejected to make room for a set of social explanations and justifications.

The majority of those interested in social reform and neither their number nor their influence is negligible—discuss divorce in liberal spirit. They seem to think, first, that the present prevalence of divorce is primarily due to immorality rather than to immorality, and that in a properly ordered community the social well being calls for a marriage code at least as liberal as that proposed by the Majority Report.

MOTORING IN GERMANY.

New And Stringent Rules.

As the New Year approaches, new regulations for one think and another seem literally to pour out of the mouths and flow from the pens of the German bureaucrats. They are in different shapes and forms, as well as of varying importance, but one thing is certain about them: whether absolutely definite or final or in the undigested stage awaiting revision, they all require a great deal of study before the average layman arrives at the exact purpose and working of them.

Such may be said about the new regulations proposed for imposition on the motor cars of the province of Brandenburg, in which Berlin is situated. Nevertheless, it is not so difficult to discover the extraordinary stringency of these obscure clauses. In the first place, the maximum speed is not to exceed ten miles an hour on all by-roads and at all cross roads, sharp corners, and junctions. Secondly, each car is to have three lanterns, each of at least 100 candle power, well visible at a hundred yards distance, and placed 4ft. above the roadway. The car is to have the number on both sides, as well as on the back and front, and the number plates are all to be placed sufficiently high to escape being obscured by the dust. It is not believed that these regulations as here given can be put into effect. They will almost certainly be greatly modified.

BOMBAY HUNT.

The White House on the Melon Ground was yesterday's meeting place for our weekly by-day. Some eighteen sportsmen, including one of our keenest lady-followers, assembled at daybreak to try our luck in the covers close by. Well, our luck was out; not even a single whimper from the hounds led us to hope a jack was there. Chuckla was tried, and on we went to the Mangoe Tope, where still no longed for sound was heard. Right-handed we went into the valley, and on in the direction of the Grange Bungalow, where our almost dying hopes were speedily revived by a glorious burst of music from some of the leading hounds; and, what was still better, the scent lay in the right direction. It took a little time for hounds to settle down to their work, but when they did it was worth a good bit to see them hunt their quarry straight as a line, over the paddy bunds and over the grass lands towards Marole Hill.

On reaching the hill hounds immediately scaled the heights and dassed madly down into the Goregaon grass lands beyond.

Some of us wondered, while going as hard as we could in the direction of Malad, if it were possible that we were once more to be treated to one of those soul-stirring gallops that are spoken of with bated breath by those lucky few who have participated in them. However, it was not to be, for our jackal turned sharp right-handed in an endeavour to save his brush in the dense jungle, but the hounds' spirits were roused and no jungle, however thick, can impede our gallant pack of this year. They hunted him right through as if by magic, and, after forcing him out into slightly more open country, pulled him down at the foot of the big Jungle Hill.

After ascertaining that we had been running a good forty minutes, we began to realise how late it must be and a further effort had to be demanded of our noble horses. A sharp canter was essential for those who could not treat their offices with contempt.

We reached the shelter of the Jackal Club some fifteen minutes past nine, and it was not until we were on our way to the station that hounds came into sight on their homeward journey.

On Thursday next our appointed meet is at Santa Cruz.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

THE HIGH COURT.

DR. SUKHIA'S APPEAL.

The hearing of the appeal in Dr. Sukhia's Libel Case was resumed yesterday before the Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Chandavarkar.

Mr. Raikes appeared for the plaintiff, Dr. Sukhia, while Messrs. Kanga and Davar appeared for the defendants, Mr. Ratnagar and the two Marzbans (father and son), of the "Jame-Jamshed" newspaper.

Mr. Davar for the second and third defendants said that the first court had showed its disapproval of the plaintiff's behaviour in coming to court, by not giving him costs, and only a contemptuous damage of Re. 1. In Times Law Reports Vol. 1, page 497 (Cook vs. Brogden and Co.), the case deals with the discretion of the court about damages. Mr. Davar hoped that their Lordships would not interfere with the decision of Mr. Justice Beaman, but dismiss the appeal with costs.

The Chief Justice : We have come to the conclusion, Mr. Raikes, that the cross appeal fails, but you may address us as regards costs only. There was no privilege and no justification.

Mr. Raikes then addressed the Court as regards the question of costs. He said that it was very rare that any one came to court to earn money by a libel suit. The plaintiff came to court to clear his character, but the judgment of the first court had not cleared his character, as the judge had given the plaintiff merely contemptuous damages. Costs must be given to the plaintiff though a nominal or contemptuous damage had been given. Mr. Raikes then argued the question of costs at length, quoting numerous judgments.

Mr. Justice Chandavarkar remarked that Dr. Sukhia had been said to be irrepressible, and something like a respectable budmash. But Dr. Sukhia himself admitted in his speeches that he was said to have been in the habit of going to court and sending notices and notes, and that notes of censure had been passed on him in the Corporation. If that were so, how could Dr. Sukhia say that he had a reputation which was damaged by the libel, which, though a libel, was not of a serious character?

Mr. Raikes said that plaintiff had perfectly good explanations for every one of the allegations, but those explanations were not allowed to be given in re-examination. Dr. Sukhia might be called a little obstinate.

Mr. Justice Chandavarkar said that the more obstinate a public man was, the more public-spirited he was thought to be. But Dr. Sukhia himself called public meetings, threw stones at others, called one a liar and another a companion of immoral men, and admitted that his speeches had excited a number of men, etc. What had Mr. Raikes to say to that?

Mr. Raikes said that plaintiff had never called anybody a liar, nor anybody a companion of immoral men.

Mr. Justice Chandavarkar said that Dr. Sukhia had attacked the graduates as brainless. If Dr. Sukhia provoked others in that way, what ground could he have to run to court?

Mr. Raikes then said that the question of plaintiff's general character had nothing to do with costs. The point of mitigation of damages was really a question of fixing the "damages." Nowhere had the question of the plaintiff, being a public man, been treated as a reason for mitigation of damages. About the question of "bona fides ;" Mr. Justice Beaman was mistaken. The defendants had repeated the statement three years after it had first been uttered. The judge found it was malicious in one place, though he said in another place that the defendants' action was "bona fide". The judge spoke of the intense dislike of the writer towards the plaintiff and that was malice.

Chief Justice : How? It would not be malicious if one had an intense dislike for Bradlaugh.

It had been shown that plaintiff had never attacked Mr. Ratnagar and the alleged attack on the Marzbans was a mere criticism of the action of the Panchayet for giving their printing work to the "Jame-e-Jamshed". It was a criticism only and referred to a public newspaper and not the Marzbans personally.

Mr. Raikes then took up one by one the charges against Dr. Sukhia, and gave his replies to them.

Their Lordships pointed out that Dr. Sukhia, by his speeches and writings, had, to some extent, invited retort by others.

Mr. Raikes was still going on with his arguments, when the Court rose for the day.

A BUILDING DISPUTE.

The case in which the plaintiff, Mr. Tribhuvandas Mangaldas Nathoobhoy and Gordhandas Tribhuvandas, sued Mahomedalli Lookmanji Sullemanji and Kasondas Tribhuvandas, a son of the first plaintiff, for an order on the first defendant to perform his part of an agreement of 10th July 1908, and pay the plaintiffs Rs. 2,63,000 came up for hearing in High Court.

The first plaintiff said the first defendant had bought, from him a building with lands for Rs. 3,51,500. The sale was ratified later, when Rs. 88,900 was paid, as earnest money, and the property was handed over to the defendant. Then there was a dispute about the area of the building and other matters. The facts were reported some time ago.

After a long correspondence, the parties came to the High Court, and the hearing of the case took place in Mr. Justice Heaton's Court.

After a protracted hearing, judgment was delivered yesterday. Mr. Justice Heaton held that the oral evidence given in the case was worthless. He did not mean to say that Mr. Tribhuvandas and his son had not given true evidence, but the lapse of time and the bitterness with which the matter had been fought out had possibly blurred their memories. His Lordship dismissed the suit with costs, and Rs. 1,000 was awarded to the first defendant as damages and Rs. 62,000 as abatement.

THE POLICE COURTS.

TREACHER AND CO.'S CASE.

The cross-examination of Mr. F. Macaffee, the defence witness, in the case in which Mr. Robert Barlow, chairman, and certain of the directors of Messrs. Treacher and Co. have charged Mr. N. S. Gazdar, a shareholder in the Company, with defamation was continued yesterday, before Mr. A. H. S. Ashton, Chief Presidency Magistrate, at the Esplanade Police Court.

Mr. H. Campbell, barrister-at-law, with Mr. Kirke Smith, solicitor, appeared for the complainants, and Messrs. N. W. Saher and N. Gazdar, barristers-at-law, with Messrs. K. F. Nariman and Kanga, represented the accused.

Mr. Campbell read a paragraph on "interest on dividends" from the "Duties of Auditors" by Francis W. Pixley, barrister-at-law, F.S.A., a well-known authority on accountancy. The author stated : "The interest and dividends received on the investments of a company, so far as they relate to the period since the date on which the books were last closed; or, if the company be a new one, since its incorporation, must be taken credit for in the revenue account, and, in addition, the interest accrued to the date of closing the books."

The witness was asked whether he agreed with the above view, and if so, whether his statement that interest on investments ought not to be considered as profits should be modified. He replied that interests on investments which formed part of the reserve fund must be shown in the general reserve fund, and should not be mentioned in profit and loss account ; but interests on "other investments" could be shown in profit and loss account.

Witness explained what he meant by interest on "other investments," thus :—Suppose Messrs. Treacher and Co. advanced a loan of Rs. 1,000, the interest on that would go into the profit and loss account. But witness did not suggest that a temporary loan of Rs. 1,000 was an investment.

Mr. Campbell : "Now there are a great number of companies which show interest on investments in profit and loss accounts."

"May be; I haven't seen that."

Mr. Campbell then produced a number of balance-sheets and profit and loss accounts, the forms of which were like those of Messrs Teacher and Co's. In the case of one firm, the balance sheet of which had been audited and certified by the witness, there was an item of debt on the credit side similar to that in the case of Messrs. Treacher and Co. The witness, regarding Treacher's entry, had said that it was inaccurate, the and that therefore the accounts were false. In this case also the witness admitted it was inaccurate. The witness avoided the word false and preferred inaccurate to it ; but in general, Messrs. Treacher and Co's accounts were false.

Asked whether he could quote any authority in support of his statement that interest from investments which formed part of reserve fund should not appear in profit and loss accounts, the witness said he could not refer to any one except himself. He had not referred to any books.

Mr. Campbell asked whether the witness would not have done better had he come to the Court after referring to books in support of his own view. The witness rejoined he had not done so because he had not known Mr. Campbell would ask him such questions.

Continuing the witness said that he would call it inaccurate if items of interest on investments that formed part of reserve funds were mentioned in profit and loss accounts; but he would call it false in case he believed that there was a motive behind. He assumed that there was a motive in the case of Messrs. Treacher and Co's accounts, because he was told that an item of Rs. 1,000 obtained from interests on overdrafts on goods brought out had been omitted. The intention of those who had prepared the account—the directors—had been to "mislead and deceive." The directors, he was able to suggest, had "deceived and misled" in their desire to show profitable year. With this end in view the nett profits were shown to be larger than what they actually were. An entry of Rs. 7,00 in the profit and loss accounts had increased the visible balance by that amount of which Rs. 1000 ought properly to have been mentioned separately and debited instead of credited. If that amount of Rs. 1,000 had not been credited in profit and loss account but added to the reserve fund, it would have made some difference and he would have altered his opinion. He would say that it was inaccurate if Rs. 6,000 were shown in profit and loss account and Rs. 1,000 as working expenses. But he would never say it was false.

Mr. Campbell asked farther who told the witness that Rs. 1,000 had been set aside. The witness replied that the information had been "given" to him as having been stated in the Court by one of the witnesses under cross-examination. Pressed, he said that the person referred to was one of the directors. Asked further whether he meant to say that a director of Messrs. Treacher and Co. had given the information, the witness replied in the negative, and said that Mr. Gazdar had given him the information when he wrote to the witness. The witness had formed his opinion, on Messrs. Treacher and Co's. accounts on that information. He had not taken any steps to ascertain its correctness. The witness admitted that as an expert, he pledged himself to such an opinion not only on Mr. Gazdar's information, but he said that he had satisfied himself by perusing the figures. He had not taken any steps to verify that information at the time, but did so after he had been in the Court on last Saturday. It was assumed what Mr. Gazdar had told him was not correct the witness's opinion was worthless. Witness admitted he did not think it a cautious thing to express an opinion on such information. He next explained how in another way his suspicions had been aroused as to the "bona fides" of the account. From an examination of previous balance-sheets it was found that Messrs. Treacher and Co. had investments to the amount of Rs. 1,79,000 in 1911, whereas in 1912 they had Rs. 1,80,000 ; but their interest in 1911 was Rs. 6,393, and Rs. 5,000 in 1912. So he thought that what Mr. Gazdar had said was correct.

The cross-examination had not concluded when the Court rose for the day.

CIRCUS PROPRIETOR CONVICTED.

Mr. B. Willison, proprietor of Willison's Circus, now performing at "Maidania," appeared before the Third Presidency Magistrate, yesterday, to answer a charge of assault preferred against him by L. H. Smythe, a ticket collector, in his employ. The complainant, on the 23rd of December last, asked the accused to give him Rs. 14, his pay for 8 days. The accused paid him Rs. 5, but the complainant wanted the whole amount to be paid. The accused, instead of paying him the amount, assaulted him, striking him with a stick. The accused stated that the conduct of the complainant, when he asked for the money, was very provocative. He was greatly annoyed, and it was true that in his irritation, he gave the complainant two blows, but they were not with a stick. His Worship could not believe that there was any provocation, and convicted and sentenced the accused to pay a fine of Rs. 15.

DUMPING ON THE SEASHORE.

At the Mazgon Police Court, before the Fourth Presidency Magistrate, Mr. Frank Oliveira, Dr. F. J. Patel appeared to answer a charge preferred against him by the Bombay Port Trust, of having, between the 10th and the 31st December, caused large quantities of earth, mud and gravel to be thrown on the seashore at Walkeshwar-road, Chowpati, where they were liable to be washed into the sea.

Mr. F. W. Pereira, pleader, appeared for Dr. Patel. The defence was that the doctor was not in Bombay at the time of the alleged offence, and was not aware of what was being done, and, therefore, he could not be held responsible.

The Magistrate observed that there was nothing in the evidence to show that the doctor had given orders for the mud and earth to be thrown on the seashore or that he knew anything about it. In circumstances, he dismissed the case.

Permission was asked for to proceed against the contractor, which was granted.

A TURKISH VAGRANT.

Before the Second Presidency Magistrate, Mr. P. H. Dastur, Sub-Inspector Bartele charged a Turkish deserter from the seat of war, named Ioias, with being a vagrant.

The accused pleaded guilty and the Magistrate ordered him to be sent to the Government Workhouse.

THE SEAMAN'S LOT.

The following communication has been addressed by a ship's officer to the Secretary of the Imperial Merchant Service Guild :—

"I was greatly interested in the articles you sent to the Press, concerning the sea as a profession, and the apprentices serving in the firm of Messrs. W. Runciman & Company. I would like to say a few words about this matter myself. Eight years ago I was apprenticed to a North-East Coast Steamship Company, and for four years I had to slave for forty sovereigns doing exactly the same work as a sailor and getting the same food. However I wired into it and was successful in getting my chief mate's certificate. I was appointed chief officer of a 6,000 tons steamer which position I held for eight-en months, and left to go up for my master's certificate. I was successful, being then 24 years of age.

I then began to take sea life into serious consideration and being sick and tired of the watch and watch system and not getting much time at home, I resolved to try some of our crack companies and eventually was appointed as third officer in a large firm, where good food and decent accommodation were given. Of the former I could not complain, but when we arrived in port, I was kept continually busy. I was expected to be smartly dressed in my own uniform, and climb up and down dirty ships holds and talley cargo all the time cargo was being worked. This was carried on night and day, Sundays as well, and no overtime paid. Last November we arrived in Liverpool, and the system of leave came into operation, i. e., the second and third officers take 24 hours alternatively. I found myself a stranger in Liverpool in charge of a ship with no food provided, all heating apparatus was off and unable to sleep owing to the rattling of steam winches and a hundred men or so swearing and shouting throughout the whole of the night. The next day was my day off, but where could I go. I could only tramp the streets, but I was glad to get away from the ship for a few hours. On Saturday night, I laid in a supply of provisions intending to cook them myself on the Sunday. When Sunday morning arrived, greatly to my surprise the ship was taking in bunker coal. The galley funnel was unshipped and the fire out, and throughout the good Sabbath day the vessel was wrapped in a cloud of coal dust. I went without food all that day, but the day following I did justice to breakfast, dinner, and tea on shore, but found that it exhausted my whole day's pay. So I have decided if I can get an opportunity to find a position on shore. I will willingly serve as a clerk, take charge of a river launch, or any other suitable situation, so long as I can make from 35 to £2 per week. I am 25 years of age, hold a master's certificate, a total abstainer, and have a clean record, and would be very glad if you could assist me to obtain employment on shore.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE ALHAMBRA.

The Alhambra Cinema Show at the junction of Parel and Sandhurst roads is becoming more and more popular and crowds go nightly to the picture show, the management of which have selected a choice selection of films. The programme is interesting and attractive, and the projection is quite clear, the realistic effect produced, almost making the audience believe they see live figures on the stage.

The accommodation is all that could be desired. The handsome building presents the spectacle of a fairyland, the paper festoons and garlands, arranged in harmony with the electric lamps leading an additional charm. The fans are lavishly distributed, and in spite of the packed houses, no discomfort of any kind is felt. The flow of eager spectators is so constant and large that a many times larger picture house could not have contained them all.

The busy locality presents to the sight of a native fair, and the Alhambra enterprise has proved quite a success.

The "Wild Man" film depicts a well-planned plot and is so cleverly arranged as to be very easily followed and understood by the audience, a large majority of whom do not understand a word of English. The comic films are more appreciated and the audience is so well pleased with them that the spectators are led away to the extent of vociferous clapping and cheering, by way of approbation, the acts of the cinema artist, whose shadow only, so to speak, is reproduced on the screen.

The Alhambra picture house has succeeded in winning public approbation quicker than any other show of its kind with the masses.

LORD AND LADY WILLINGDON.

Passengers in the Wreck of the "China."

Referring to the appointment of Lord Willingdon as Governor of Bombay, the "Times of Ceylon" recalls that both Lord and Lady Willingdon were passengers on the P. and O. s.s. "China," when she was wrecked near Perim. This paper says:—Mr. Freeman-Thomas, as he was then, was a homeward-bound passengers by the boat, as was also his "fiancee," Miss Brassay. The captain, a well-known figure on the Orient route in those days, and incidentally the Commodore of the P. & O. fleet, was engaged in toasting the happy pair in the saloon when the vessel left Perim. A distracted first officer burst into the room as the gallant skipper raised a glass of foaming champagne with the air of elegance and distinction for which he was noted. The Commodore waved his excited subordinate aside, refusing to hear what he had to say until his own little speech had been gracefully and characteristically concluded. Not till then did it appear that what had been worrying the first officer was the fact that the ship was going on the rocks. The effect of this dramatic announcement can be imagined, and on the rocks, in a very few moments, the s.s. "China" went. The gallant Commodore, it is understood, was shortly afterwards relieved of his command."

MARKET REPORT:—
A fairly sharp decline was advised in the American markets, New York futures closing 16 points lower in both months, and New Orleans 22 points lower for March and 21 for May. Spot rates in both markets were unchanged. Private telegrams report the decline as due to liquidation tired bulls, who are disappointed at prices not going above 7d. The local market opened quiet but steady at Rs. 312-13 for good Broach, and 309 for Khamgaon Akola January Settlements of January contracts have been made by shippers, and there has also been some business doing in Oomras for March delivery. At Colaba the tone of the market was steadier for "suttas" and business was done in good Broach at Rs. 314. At the close the market is steady at our quotation for "suttas" while other rates are almost unchanged.

For ready cotton there has been a small enquiry which holders are willingly meeting.

An ad interim dividend at of 6 1-4 per cent. per annum was paid for the half-year ended 30th June 1912, which absorbed Rs. 30,109-11; placed to preliminary expenses account on 30th June 1912 Rs. 4,000. The directors now recommend:—A final dividend for the half-year ended 31st, December 1912, at 6 1-4 per cent. per annum, free of income tax, which will absorb Rs. 31,250; to transfer to preliminary expenses account Rs. 4,000; to place to reserve fund Rs. 20,000; to carry forward to next account Rs. 2,144-3-9; total Rs. 91,503-14-9. The reserve fund now amounts to Rs. 32,500, which includes the amounts of forfeited shares and the premia on their re-issue. The working of the Bank denotes steady progress. The working capital has increased during the year by 15 3-4 lakhs. During the year Sirdar Bomanji A. Dalal resigned his seat on the Board; the Hon. Sirdar Syedali El Edroos and Dr. Goolambusein V. Patel vacate their seats by rotation but are eligable for re-election. The shareholders are requested to appoint auditors for the ensuing year, and to fix their remuneration.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS:—Are you broken in your best by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of MRS WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste, it produces natural, quiet sleep, by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other cases. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by Medicine dealers everywhere.

LIVER TROUBLE, BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION.

If you suffer from liver complaint or constipation you will notice some of the following symptoms:—Biliousness, sick headaches, sour stomach, indigestion, heartburn, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, foul breath, bad appetite, drowsiness and distress after eating, flatulence, vomiting, sallow complexion, pains between the shoulders, tightness across the chest, spots before the eyes, giddiness.

Doan's Dinner Pills revive the sluggish liver, stimulate the flow of the digestive fluids, and restore a natural activity to the bowels, thus effectively removing the cause of the above symptoms. Doan's Dinner Pills are guaranteed purely vegetable, and do not gripe or bind.

As. 4, 8, & 12 per bottle; all dealers.

DOAN'S MEDICINES, P. O. Box 20, BOMBAY.

DANGERS OFPILES.

Piles are a disease of middle and advanced age, and few adults entirely escape the complaint, particularly those of sedentary habits. Few women bear children without becoming subject to piles.

At first piles may occasion but little inconvenience beyond itchiness and discomfort when the bowels are costive. But if not promptly and properly treated, they become permanent, and are not only a continual discomfort, but are liable to inflammation, bleeding and ulceration, and cause pain of a most acute nature, whilst the bleeding from internal piles may become a serious menace to health, rendering the patient weak, debilitated and anæmic.

Doan's Ointment gives quick and lasting relief in piles, eczoma, and any itchiness of the skin. The first application brings a grateful sense of coolness to the affected parts, and one tin of Doan's Ointment is generally sufficient to effect a lasting cure.

Rs. 2 per tin; all dealers,

BRIEF AND PITHY.

HALF AN HOUR PER VOTE.

A Russian correspondent sends some amusing accounts of the disabilition which the Russian authorities have attached to Liberal voters in the Duma elections. For one district (Odessa) a Liberal voter reckoned that it took him half an hour to record his vote allowing for the time used in examining his papers—birth certificate and the rest. The reactionary voter got through in about three minutes.—"Nation."

THE "CHARLES DICKENS."

A friend of mine who was connected with the London and North-Western Railway for over forty years was travelling to London on the Charles, Dickens train. Before starting he strolled up the platform as usual to have a look at the engine. Well driver he said, "how much of the original engine have you there to-day P'arps the whustle, sir said" the driver.—A correspondent in the "Manchester Guardian."

EXPLORER'S COLLAR STUDE.

An English visitor was very much astonished at the size and number of the bowls of studs in the bedrooms of Dr. Sven Hedin. The explanation was as simple as the idea was great. Whenever the great traveller sees a man in the street selling cheaf collar studs at a penny the dozen, he invests his loose coppers in these volatile articles, and deposits his purchase in the bowls on his dressingroom tables. When, in the frigid atmosphere of an Arctic bedroom the collar stud escapes to some hidden retreat, you have only to dip a careless finger into the flowing bowl, and begin the day's work in the right key.—"Glasgow News."

THE END.

From Germany comes this story about a novelist and an editor. The editor had ordered a story of a certain lenght, and the novelist had written several hundred words too many. In order to make the story fit the space at his disposal, the last few paragraphs were condensed into a single sentence. This is the way it read: "Von Berken took a small glass of whisky, his hat his departure, no notice of his pursuers, a revolver out of his pocket, and, finally, his life."—"Argonaut."

THE POLITE FRENCHMAN.

A certain polite Frenchman, of singular amiability, and replete with as much Entente Cordiale as he was capable of carrying, was, upon the occasion of his first visit to these shores, invited to a party.

Being anxious to make plain his friendliness and desire to do the right thing, he promptly embraced his hostess when she advanced to welcome him.

"Hang it all," said her enraged and considerably dashed spouse, "how the devil dare you kiss my wife like that; and before me too?"

"One thousand pardons," responded the pattern of politeness. "I was unaware of the customs. Next time I kees you first."—"The Pelican."

HOUSE BUILT BY GEORGE WASHINGTON.

At Glasgow, Kentucky, there is a residence built by George Washington in 1790, for General Spotteswoode, then Governor of Virginia, in which State Glasgow was included at the time.

The walls are of solid brickwork, 36in. thick, and laid with dowels. The original roof covering part of which still remains, consisted of chestnut shingles, 1-2 in. thick, secured with wood pegs.

The building was constructed entirely without nails, which were not manufactured in the United States when the house was built. The original windows were of glass imported from France, as this material was not produced in America at the time.

The windows illustrate the wear and tear of structural materials, for it is stated that the glass remaining intact has worn so that it is no thicker than paper, and is readily broken by rainstorms.

The house has not been remodelled in any way, and presents substantially the same appearance as when built 132 years ago.—"The Builder."

SIDE WHISKERS.

"Are you going to wear side whiskers if the fashion is revived?" "I don't know," answered Mr. Cumrox. "I might if it will make some of my wife's callers act as time dand deferential towards me as they do towards my butler."—"WashingtonStar."

WHAT HE GAINED.

"Mrs. Hayes tells me that you tied a tin can to her dog's tail." said the mother to her son. "What a shameful thing to do?" "Yes ma,am." "Do you know that the poor dog ran away so far that he has never some back—that he probably ran himself to death?" "Yes, ma,am." Oh Robert! What do you gain by such cruelty? I gained a dollar from Mr. Hayes."—"New Orleans Picayune."

JUSTICE.

"All I demand for my client," demanded the prisoner's counsel in the voice of a man who was paid for it is justice I am very sorry I can't accommodate you," replied the judge, but the law won't allow me to give him more than fourteen years."—"Stray Stories."

THE REASON

"Why do they call a tugboat she?" Said the girl to the mate of the Thistle.

"I dunno says he; "but it seems to me
That it must be they call her "she"
On account of the awful noise you see,
She makes when she tries to whistle."—"Judge."

WAVERLEY PENS

"They come as a boon and a blessing to men,
The Pickwick, the Owl, and the Waverley Pen."

No writer tires using a Waverley. Its enticing action, smooth turned-up point and durability make it the best nib—the World's Favourite. Beware of Imitations. :: ::

MEN AND MATTERS.

Additions to and changes in the order of Precedence are now made by Royal Warrant issued to the Earl Marshal, but other methods have been employed at various times. It was, for natance, by Letters Patent that James I, placed Baronets after Viscounts younger, sons, where they still remain. The place of the Speaker was determined by a statute of William and Mary. Curiously enough, the existing Order of Precedence, in its main features, still rests on a statute called "Act for Placing the Lords" which was passed in the reign of Henry VIII. But Parliament passed this Act at the request of the Tudor monarch, and to a very large extent it simply amounted to a formal registration of what had already been established by custom and practice.

Hall Barn, where the King has been shooting, is associated with the poet Waller, though the house was rebuilt in the eighteenth century. One of its principal treasures is the dagger which Burke threw on the floor of the House when he begged members to "keep French principles from their heads and French daggers from their hearts." The House of Commons is the most dangerous setting for heroics of this kind, and the outburst provoked ribald laughter when Sheridan asked "where was the fork." King Edward often shot at Hall Barn.

Viscount Morley, who has entered his seventy fifth year, had not reached his half-century when as Irish Secretary, he assisted in framing and explaining the first Home Rule Bill; in a few weeks, when approaching the end of the third quarter of a century, he will be one of the leading exponents of the third measure, though only the second to reach the chamber in which he now sits. The Lord President of the Council is the only member of the present Administration who has sat in all of the three Cabinets which have brought forward Home Rule proposals, though Mr. Asquith sat with him in the last of Mr. Gladstone's Ministries.

Mr. T. J. Barratt, who has recently given the world splendid demonstration of how an exceedingly busy man may spend his leisure in the publication of "Annals of Hampstead," may be rightly described as the pioneer of modern advertising in Great Britain. For Mr. Barratt is Pears' Soap in his business hours, and to him we owe the purchase of "Bubbles" and other famous pictures which set an entirely new standard on our hoardings, and brought some acquaintance with great art to every home. He it was, too, who first produced a Christmas annual which set a new standard in the number and quality of its illustration plates and exercised an enormous influence in raising the quality of the Christmas productions.

It is a hundred years ago since Samuel Smiles was born at Haddington. His principal memorial in London is in connection with the South-Eastern Railway. It was while he was secretary of that company that he arranged for the extension of the line from Charing Cross to Cannon-Street. "Self-Help" is so universally known that we are apt to forget that it was only one incident in a busy, well-spent life. The triumph of Free Trade (still a live issue) owed a great deal to him, and a suggestion of his that private Bills should be transferred to local legislatures is by no means out of date. In these days, when young men complain that all the professions and callings are shockingly overcrowded, it may be recalled that Samuel Smiles, just fresh from college, had the pluck to open practice in his native town, where there were already six doctors to look after 3,000 aggravatingly healthy Scots.

The Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons appointed to enquire as to the effect on the Parliamentary status of Sir Stuart Samuel, Bart., M. P., having regard to the acceptance by his firm of a contract with a Government Department, in recommending that questions of law of great difficulty in this matter should be referred to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council carefully reserved and maintained the right of the House of Commons, secured to it under the provisions of the Bill of Rights, to the absolute control of its own proceedings and to the determination, subjects to the provisions of the Election Petitions Acts, of questions relating to the status of its members and the vacation of seats which it has successfully maintained or vindicated ever since the reign of James I.

It is safe to say that no Christmas banquet at Home in mail week equalled on which took place at the Mansion House forty years ago. Sir Sydney Waterlow, of the great firm of printers, and the father of Mr. D. S. Waterlow, who formerly sat in the Liberal interest for North Islington, was Lord Mayor during 1872-3, and he signalised his Christmas in office by entertaining close upon two hundred of his relations at his civic residence. The guest of honour was Sir Sydney's father, Mr. James Waterlow, who had been born in 1790, and who was then eighty-two years of age, a span which Sir Sydney exceeded by one year. The old gentleman was supported at the City table by thirteen children, forty-nine grandchildren, and fourteen great-grandchildren. The Lord Major himself had around him, in addition to his father, four sons, four daughters, six brothers, six sisters, seventeen nephews, twenty-two nieces, twenty-nine cousins, and one grandson, while Lady Waterlow brought her stepmother, four brothers, three sisters, twelve nephews, twelve nieces, and forty-one cousins. It was Sir Sydney to whom North Londoners owed one of their finest "lungs"—Waterlow Park—which Sir Sydney presented to the London County Council. He sat in Parliament for many years, and during his Lord Mayoralty the famous visit to the City of the Shah of Persia took place.

Mr. Tom Reece has made the contest for the professional billiard championship next year exceedingly interesting by his defeat of Mr. Melbourne Inman for the second time. There are very few players more attractive in their style. He makes all the difficulties of the table seem simple, and his control of the balls is exquisitely delicate. So well does he play, indeed, that his repeated failures in big matches have been a surprise and a disappointment to his many friends. He has not shown himself to possess the match-winning temperament, and in playing the cooler and more resolute Inman in particular he has failed to show the skill of which he is capable. Now that he seems to have triumphed over the difficulties of his own temperament future matches with Inman should cease to have terrors for him. Inman is an example of the player who has achieved success by doggedness and absolute command of himself in all situations. He is not so attractive to watch as Stevenson, Reece, Diggle, and one or two other players, but he seldom goes to the table without scoring, and he is never beaten while a match continues.

It was strictly in accordance with the law and custom that Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson, the senior member of the Viceroy's Council, should hold the Durbar at Delhi after Lord Hardinge of Peashurst had been incapacitated. When an interregnum occurs in the Viceroyalty, the functions are discharged by the Governor of Madras. But the Governor of Madras is not always available immediately, and until he is on the spot the functions are discharged by the Senior Member of Council. This is what happened on the only two occasions when death removed a Viceroy. In 1872, on the assassination of Lord Mayo, Sir John Strachie, Senior Member of Council, officiated until the arrival of Lord Napier of Ettrick, Governor of Madras. In 1863, when the present Lord Elgin's distinguished father died at Dharmsala, Lord Napier of Magdala, as he afterwards became, was Senior Member, and he officiated until the arrival of Colonel Sir William Denison, Governor of Madrass

MAN-EATER AT LARGE.

An alarming report reached the district authorities at Alipore on Sunday the "Englishman" says that a tiger measuring about twelve feet had made its appearance in the vicinity of Joynagore. It appears that one Munshi Mullah's son of Hurinarayanpore, on the morning of the 2nd instant, while entering his vegetable plantation, was pounced upon by the man-eater, who managed to sever the head from the body and carry it off. At the shriek of the unfortunate victim a number of cultivators from neighbouring fields arrived with lathis and other weapons and gave chase. The man-eater with severed head in its mouth was soon out of sight, but to the surprise of the party it suddenly appeared from behind, and carried away and severely injured another man who died from the effect of the injuries in the local hospital. The brute afterward made for Magraha and devoured another man there while he was out in the early morning of the 3rd instant. The tiger is still at large and great consternation prevails.

"Stop taking Drugs and Stimulants! It's

SANATOGEN

You want for your Nerves."

Such is the modern physician's advice to victims of nervous disorders.

In his book on "Nerve Energy," Dr. Claude L. Wheeler says: "Many people have, through ignorance of the consequences, become victims of a habit of taking drugs and stimulants. To such people Sanatogen offers a form of force that may be drawn upon without danger. Sanatogen, in a perfectly normal way, creates new tissue and nerve-cells. It builds up, reconstructs and renders stable."

Similar statements have been made by over 16,000 practising physicians, who certify to the unique value of Sanatogen in overcoming such nervous symptoms as:

Insomnia	Palpitation of the Heart
Depression of Spirits	Morbid Anxiety
Irritability of Temper	Easily-induced Physical
Nervous Dyspepsia	and Mental Fatigue.

Among the many famous people who have publicly testified to the value of Sanatogen is the Right Hon. Sir John Gorst, Privy Councillor to the King of England, who writes:—"Sir John Gorst wishes to say he has long been acquainted with the great merits of Sanatogen—has taken it with excellent results, and when necessary will certainly take it again. It was also used by a daughter of his with great benefit."

If you, who read this, are run down or suffering from any of the symptoms mentioned, do not seek the false aid of drugs and stimulants, but begin at once to rebuild and revitalise your nervous system by means of a course of Sanatogen. It is sold by all Chemists and Bazaars.

Write to-day for a Free Copy of "The Art of Living," by Dr. Andrew Wilson. This interesting book tells you all about Sanatogen, and also contains a great deal of valuable advice on health topics. Write at once, mentioning this paper, to the manufacturers of Sanatogen, Messrs. A. Wulfing & Co. (of London), P.O. Box 226, Bombay.

Mr. Shirley Tremearne,

Editor of Capital, Calcutta, writes:—"I cannot speak too highly of Sanatogen, which not only kept me up during an attack of fever, but afterwards restored me once more to full vigour."

Dr. Andrew Wilson,

the famous medical author, writes:—"In all 'run-down' conditions, Sanatogen will restore vigour in a thoroughly natural fashion, without danger of subsequent depression. Its advantages over the ordinary tonics are that it builds up and recuperates whilst it braces the great nerve-centres; it does not upset the system, and it alters the morbid craving for stimulants."

Mr. A. G. Hales,

the famous war correspondent, writes:—"Sanatogen revitalises a man and is not a drug. I find that my health benefits by every packet that I take."

Mr. Arnold Bennett,

the distinguished writer, states:—"The tonic effect of Sanatogen on me is simply wonderful."

Incontestably proved by Forty Years' Medical Experience to be The only Cod Liver Oil which produces the full curative effects in

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST, THROAT AFFECTIONS, GENERAL DEBILITY, DISEASES OF THE SKIN, WASTING DISEASES OF CHILDREN, RICKETS, AND ALL SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

DR. PROSSER JAMES,
Lecturer on Materia Medica, London Hospital.

"Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL contains the whole of the active ingredients of the remedy, and is easily digested. Hence its value, not only in Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, but in a great number of cases to which the Profession is extending its use."

DR. HUNTER SEMPLE,
Physician to the Hospital for Diseases of the Throat and Chest, London.

"I have long been aware of the great reputation enjoyed by the LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL introduced into medical practice by Dr. DE JONGH, and have recommended it with the utmost confidence. I have no hesitation in stating my opinion, that it possesses all the qualities of a good and efficient medicine. Its taste is by no means disagreeable, and might even be called pleasant. I have found Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL very useful in cases of Chronic Cough, and especially in Laryngeal Disease complicated with Consumption."

DR. SAUNDERS, C.B.,
Late Deputy-Inspector-General Army Hospitals, Superintendent London Medical Mission.

"I have used Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL extensively among the sick poor of St. Giles's, and consider it a valuable remedy, especially in the Wasting Diseases of Children."

DR. WHITMORE,
Medical Officer of Health, St. Marylebone, London.

"My own somewhat lengthened experience as a Medical Practitioner enables me with confidence to recommend Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, as being more uniform in quality, more certain in its effects, more palatable, and infinitely less likely to disagree with the stomach than the Pale Oil. If I were asked for an explanation of the marked success which for so many years has attended the administration of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL I should say that it is owing to its extraordinary medicinal, digestive, and regiminal properties, and which are found to exist in no other medicine that I am acquainted with, in such uniform combination.
